

YOU'RE INVITED!

Bullying for Teens, Adults, & Parents

Bullying can have serious consequences for anyone, but teenagers with a bleeding disorder may feel that they are targets of bullying because of their disorder. This program provides useful information for teens about recognizing bullying and cyberbullying, developing ways to respond to bullying, and developing coping skills to feel more confident and self-assured.

You're invited to participate in HELLO TALK an educational program for individuals affected by bleeding disorders.
